THE NEW LEADER

Mr. Howson, the new leader of the Liberals of Alberta in provincial politics, is a young man of boundless energy, enthusiasm for public life, and aggressive disposition. He has a creditable record as the Legislature, is a good public speaker, and makes and holds friends.

There are qualities which carry a man far in political life. These are the qualities which are particularly necessary in a party leader at the present time. If the party is to do anything more than mark time in face of a great opportunity for public service.

Alberta has suffered from a stagnation of inactivity in public affairs which was perhaps unprecedented when times were good and everybody busy.
Those times have gone. People know now that taxes are grim realities and that debts contracted have to be paid. There is a corrective mood, and welcome suggestions for the safer and cheaper management of public affairs.

That situation ought to be an opportunity for service which the new leader is well qualified to render, and will be because of his ardent temperament it will be a pleasure for him to do so.

IF ALUMINUM, "WHY NOT WHEAT?"

Russia has imported more wheat this year than it exported. Nearly half its imports were brought in Canada. Russian crops are under great strain, and the outlook is that it will buy abroad as heavily as it has during the last few years.

Since official antagonism to Soviet products has been relaxed to the extent of allowing Russian oil to be shipped into Canada, and an embargo on aluminum produced here by an American company, how about allowing the Soviet to ship oil to the Canadian and exchange it for wheat grown by Canadian farmers?

That would be bad for Canadian oil producers, of course, but it would be an outrageous proposition for their interests to allow oil to be traded for wheat to allow it to be traded for aluminum.
And it is a good deal more important that we sell wheat in every possible market than that we help American stockholders to make money out of their aluminum plants.

At least it would be sound business to lay down the rule that if Soviet oil is to come into Canada in exchange for anything it must be exchanged for wheat.

A NEW DOMINION LOAN

The Dominion Government is to ask the public to loan it $80,000,000 at the end of the present month.

If the Government were courageous enough in willing to do nothing to pay the loan, it would put the bill and pay its obligations with them, the credit of the country standing as ample security for their worth.

Upwards of half the amount to be asked for is required to meet maturing obligations, and does not represent any increase in debt.

The remainder is not large enough to give hope that the Ministers have realized and decided to provide work, instead of doing for the unemployed.
The deficit for the year will probably swallow up all that is left after paying the maturing bonds.

The interest rate is expected to be four per cent, with the bonds sold at a discount to allow the purchaser 4 1/2 per cent on his money. At that price they should sell readily. There is plenty of idle money lying about for a part of the time, and British by the way are good buying machines.

Britain, by its actions has been putting through a financial stringency, and it is said it would put money for a rate as low as 2 per cent. There is no more danger of Canada defaulting than of Britain "going broke." It is time Ottawa thought about doing just as well as it can, and invited patriotic Canadians to supply the money at just 3 per cent.

Seeing that our Government insists upon borrowing and paying interest, it should at least try to borrow on the best terms it can get. The Canadian dollar may be the best security that the Ministers possess. In any case, it could be well to give it a chance to show the strength of its loyalty.

FISCAL SANITY

The Liberals of the province adopted a "resolute" resolution calling for a balanced provincial budget and for the reduction of capital expenditures to strictly necessary purposes.

Another supplementary resolution states that capital money should be used for the construction of the natural resources should be earmarked and used for the reduction of the provincial debt.

Those two planks in the platform provide a platform broad enough for a party, and important enough to challenge interest in all quarters and among all classes.

Alberta must pay as it goes. More than that, it must whittle down its debt. That is indispensable.
The alternative is bankruptcy. Not merely bankruptcy of the province but of the taxpayers. Farmers whose grain has been seized for taxes understand that. So does the town man who is in danger of losing his property because the heavily-indebted province collects and keeps revenue which should be shared with the municipalities.

The responsibility of a province are limited.
So are its powers to control economic conditions.
But it has power to harm where it cannot help.
The provinces of Canada are doing that today, because of their over-expenditure in the past. They are leaning on the Dominion Government which is protecting them from their creditors by paying their debts to New York.

That sort of thing must stop if property is to be safe from confiscation. This province, like each of the others, will have to learn to live on its income, to discriminate between necessities and frills, and to use capital money to pay off its overhead debt. That way only lies the possibility of tax-reduction and the security of earnings, wages, homes and farms.

Poems That Live

EQUINOXIAL
The sun of life has crossed the line;
The summer-haze of lengthened light Faded and faded, till, where I stand, The equal day and equal night.

One after one, as dawning hours, Youth's glowing hopes have dropped away,
And soon may barely leave the gleam That softly colors a winter's day.

I am not young; I am not old;
The flush of morn, the sunset glow, Paling and deepening, each to each Meet midway with the solemn dawn.

One side I see the summer fields Not yet disrobed of all their green; While, westerly, along the hills, Flame the first tints of heavy morn.

Ah, middle-point, where dawn and morn Meet battle-ground of this my life!
Where, ere it's ended, the night and day Wedge round their September strife!

I hope me to the threatening gloom;
I know when that is overpast, Among the peaceful harvest days, An August of the sun and of the rain.

—Adeline D. W. Whitney (1824-1906)

SIDE GLANCES - By George Clark

Last Sunday night I went to a "Red" meeting
I had under the auspices of the Canadian Labor Defence League, to protest against the deportation
of Vaux, Parker, Holmes, Squire, Squire, Smith,
and a half dozen others, then held in the deporitation cells at Halifax for taking part in labor disturbances in England.

What I heard makes me wonder if we are not in for a great deal more in the way of unemployed people.

Newspaperman-like, I was late. The meeting had been under way twenty minutes when I got there. I thought I was sure of a seat in the theatre, instead I had to stand. Though I walked down the aisle as far as the front row, I couldn't get a vacant seat in the house. Unemployed people must come to draw full houses.

It was a "Red" meeting all right. Woodworth and Maclean the Labor MP's were denouncing the government as Bonaparte, King and Premier Brownlee of Alberta, though perhaps the "pretentious capitalist" was a bit off with his facts.

One of the speakers was very frank. Correcting an impression that in a previous speech he had admitted to being a "Red," he said that he was not for December 16, is a direct action, not armed revolution. We are not strong enough yet for armed revolution.

Elucidating what he meant by "direct action" he cited the riots in Ireland where mobs had half a million dollars worth of damage in wrecking stores and houses. He said that he was not a "Red" as referred to. It was not made clear what significance attaches to December 16, except that something is going to happen then in the way of direct action.

Fire is smoldering in the gatherings. A man who stood behind me and who suffered from haltations, kept breaking in with fervent assurances that the "Reds" were not a threat to the state, but when "moved by the spirit" their lack is leadership.

It will be a serious day for Canada were some man of first rate mental ability and force to take hold of these fellows and map out a programme.
In their fury they are incensed against the absolute rule of the capitalists who are suffering from them. Anything might happen if someone could show them the logic of sectionalism, and demonstrate that the "Reds" are not a threat to the state, but that their lot might be improved by a new social order.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cooper

Last Sunday night I went to a "Red" meeting
I had under the auspices of the Canadian Labor Defence League, to protest against the deportation
of Vaux, Parker, Holmes, Squire, Squire, Smith,
and a half dozen others, then held in the deporitation cells at Halifax for taking part in labor disturbances in England.

What I heard makes me wonder if we are not in for a great deal more in the way of unemployed
people.

Newspaperman-like, I was late. The meeting had been under way twenty minutes when I got there. I thought I was sure of a seat in the theatre, instead I had to stand. Though I walked down the aisle as far as the front row, I couldn't get a vacant seat in the house. Unemployed people must come to draw full houses.

It was a "Red" meeting all right. Woodworth
and Maclean the Labor MP's were denouncing the
government as Bonaparte, King and Premier Brownlee
of Alberta, though perhaps the "pretentious capitalist" was a bit off with his facts.

One of the speakers was very frank. Correcting an impression that in a previous speech he had admitted to being a "Red," he said that he was not
for December 16, is a direct action, not armed revolution. We are not strong enough yet for armed revolution.

Elucidating what he meant by "direct action" he cited the riots in Ireland where mobs had half a million dollars worth of damage in wrecking stores and houses. He said that he was not a "Red" as referred to. It was not made clear what significance attaches to December 16, except that something is going to happen then in the way of direct action.

Fire is smoldering in the gatherings. A man who stood behind me and who suffered from haltations, kept breaking in with fervent assurances that the "Reds" were not a threat to the state, but when "moved by the spirit" their lack is leadership.

Kidnapped Britons Resort To Opium Pipe For Solace In Enforced Arrest

ENGLISH BRIDE SUFFERS FROM HORROR CAMPS

Ransom Included Military Officers Uniforms and "Travelling Expenses"

NEWCHANG, Manchuria, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Muriel Hawley, young English bride who was released three days ago after being held captive for months for six weeks, yesterday said that the two Britons released themselves during their confinement by smoking opium.

When their captors held money gambling parties throughout most of the night both went on a hunger strike, Mrs. Hawley said.

He told also of a Japanese major.

one of those who effected the release, wrestling with the bandit while each held a revolver in his hand.

STORY OF RESCUE

The story of the rescue as told by Mrs. Hawley is as follows:

Last Thursday morning the bandits took the captives and took them quietly to pack their belongings. They then escorted them to a filthy house with no windows and confined them there until the Japanese negotiators arrived to take them away.

On the arrival of the negotiator they were told to mount points and sent on their way still accompanied by the bandits. They did not believe they were free till they saw Manchukuo troops bearing a Japanese flag.

Right miles from the hut they came on an armored train which had been waiting.

A Russian news service correspondent named Vanes who was one of the negotiators for rescue of Mrs. Hawley and Chinese Major, who was held at the same time revealed that the two Britons released themselves during their confinement by smoking opium.

When their captors held money gambling parties throughout most of the night both went on a hunger strike, Mrs. Hawley said.

He told also of a Japanese major.

were 18 treated there fairly well and gave them opium.

Both victims suffered very badly with their feet. Mrs. Hawley's had to be removed with scissors. They had to sleep on her feet. For some time, she said, she suffered from a sore throat and stomach trouble.

The ransom included military officers uniforms and other clothing. No monetary ransom was demanded but the chief asked for travelling expenses.

They're Both Dry

These are the latest photos of Colonel Raymond Robins, missing dry crusader, who mysteriously disappeared while preparing to leave New York for a conference with President Hoover, and Mrs. Robins. While police first feared Robins may have been the victim of some runners, friends in Chicago report seeing him on the street.

ARMED THUGS RAID GUESTS OF CLUBROOM

Vancouver Scene of Sensational Robbery

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Three armed bandits ached Saturday evening raided the rooms of a club in the basement of the Maple Leaf hotel on East Hastings street and escaped with between $700 and $1,000 in cash.

Entering the clubroom with drawn guns, the gunmen lined the 15 occupants up against the wall and went through the pockets of each.

One of the robbers asked if any of the men were in need of circumstances. Three answered that they were.

"Have you any family?" the gunman asked.

"I have six children at home," replied one man.

The bandits did not search him.

BROKER FIRM GIVEN APPEAL

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Leave was granted by court of appeal today to J. W. C. Solloway, of Montreal, and Harvey Mills, of Seattle, to appeal to jury commission in London a judgment requiring them to pay nearly $100,000 to W. T. Johnson, trustee in bankruptcy of the Frontier & Co. Ltd., Kamloops stock broker.

The court refused to order a stay of execution of the judgment pending outcome before the jury commission in court, or first adequate security for it and pay the costs of the litigation, amounting, say nearly $100,000 to G. F. Fraser, counsel for W. T. Johnson.

F. P. Layton, Candidate, and D. M. Duggan Speak to Large Gathering

CAMROSE, Oct. 24.—F. P. Layton, Conservative candidate in the by-election at Camrose on Tuesday, and D. M. Duggan, leader of the provincial Conservative forces, were the main speakers at a meeting held at the Bauer theatre here on Sunday night. TRADERS MARK TIME IN GRAIN PIT ON MONDAY WINNIPEG, Oct. 24.—The wheat market passed through a period of quietness today and traders for the most part marked time. Weathered buying came from an outside interest but the issue was light. The market was a little higher to unchanged from Saturday's figures.

December 30 and May 31 wheat was quoted at 40¢ and 41¢ respectively. No export trade was traced locally but some transactions were done at the day were of a routine character.

Weathered buying was the effect of lowering Liverpool prices and of widening the spread between Canadian and Argentine C.I.F. prices, but connection from South America has not yet commenced.

Canada shipped most of the wheat and wheat for delivery countries last week. The Dominion accounting for most of the 2,000,000 bushels cleared from North America.

Trading in cash wheat and coarse grains was quiet with prices showing little change.
